BRYAN ADAMS

It is our pleasure to welcome Bryan Adams . Bryan Adams is a veteran of the Iraq war and a veterans advocate. He is featured in the Public Service Announcement “Alone” for the Iraq and Veterans of America’s Veteran Support Campaign with the Ad Council. He is now a Junior at Rutgers University studying business and is currently the President of a successful veteran's advocacy group in New Jersey. Upon graduation, Bryan plans to attend law school to continue his advocacy work. He is with us today from The Heard, the nation’s premier young adult mental health speakers bureau and a program of Active Minds. Members of the Heard are honored to act as representatives of the young adult mental health movement. As advocates and survivors, they convey messages of mental health with relevance and sincerity, and it is their primary goal to empower people to join them in changing the conversation about mental health. Join me in welcoming him.
